A STRANGE CASE.

How an Enemy was Foiled.

The following graphic statement will be read with intense interest: "I cannot describe the acute, crushing sensation that existed in my arms, hands and legs. I had to rub and beat those parts until they were sore, to overcome it. It was a seizure that had taken possession of me. In addition, I had a strange weakness in my head and around my eyes, together with an indescribable 'sore' feeling in my stomach. Physicians said it was a case of paralysis. From which, according to their universal conclusion, there is no relief. Once it fastens upon a person, they say, it continues its insidious progress until it reaches a vital point and the sufferer dies. Such was my prospect. I had been doctoring a year and a half, but with no particular benefit. When I saw an advertisement of the Miles Restorative Nervine, procured a bottle and began using it. Marvelous as it may seem, but a few days had passed before every bit of that 'sore' feeling had gone, and there has not been even the slightest indication of its return. I now feel as well as I ever did, and have gained ten pounds in weight, though I had run down from 120 to 115. Four others have used Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine on my recommendation, and it has been a satisfactory result in each case. In mine, — James Kane, La Rue, O. Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine is sold by all druggists on a positive guarantee, or sent direct by the Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind., on receipt of $1.00. 21 per bottle, six bottles for $5.00, express prepaid. It is free from opiates or dangerous drugs.

HOT WEATHER SUITS

WHAT TO WEAR UNDER THE RAYS OF A TORRID SUN.

Suits of Pique, Duck and Duality—Pretty Color For Woolen Blazers—Vests For Stylish Outfits—The Season's Bathing Suits—How They Are Cut and Made.

(Special Correspondence.)

New York, June 28.—When the torrid sun makes the city like an oven prepared for baking tea biscuit, people begin to think of ocean breezes, "cool breezes in the sun," and they get the bathing suits ready and attire themselves in something that will suggest outings at least. Not all of those who would like to go can get away, so the next best thing to do is to look as if they were going.

FOR YACHTING.

ing. Hence half the unfortunate stay at home wear tuxedo blazer suits or fancy duck yachting outfits. There is much comfort to be derived from a duck suit, for if one cannot really go on the water to get blistered by the sun one can make believe, and it is nearly as good. Just note how really grand and important a little boy feels if his indignant mother will sew some stripes and epaulets on his ragged garments. He is a great general. Big folks are not quite such enthusiastic make-believers, but I tell you girls can and do feel cooler in outing suits, though they are not so very cool after all.

The accepted suit for boating this season is white pique, duck or duality. Whatever it is washable. Around the bottom of the skirt there may be a band of pique in a contrasting color. The skirt is arranged with buttons and dummy button holes in front, but all the rest is womanly. The snug belt holds in an under or skirt blouse of pique to match the band on the skirt, and the covers to the jacket are bound with the same. There is a white turn down collar and white pique tie. A few wear the straw sailor hat, but if one wants to be very swaggy and swell one puts on a white duck cap slung like those the "hot tamale" men wear. The jackets are all Eton for sailor suits, some of them reaching the waist and others coming only half way between the arm pit and waist line.

The blazer suit smacks of the races, of the coaching parade, of walks on the sands of Newport and promenades in cool and pleasant places. The very prettiest color for woolen blazers is a light biscuit, and the material may be any of the chevrons, camel's hair or close serge or hopsack. Cloth and fine tweed are also handsome for the blazer suit. The skirt should be strictly tailor finished, with anywhere from one to seven rows of very accurate stitching. The jacket is open, some have wide revers, but more the rolled tuxedo collar. The front of the jacket and sleeves should be lined with thin silk. There may be a loose blouse waist, but if you want a really stylish outfit you should wear a vest. Scarlet surah is a favorite vest and is buttoned snugly over a stiffly starched shirt front, with its collar and black or white tie. White cuffs complete this stylish costume, with the addition of a Princess May hat. This hat is something like the alpine, but the crown is not so high, nor is it quite so large anyway. The brim rolls very gracefully, and a bit of ornament can be added in the way of a small bow and a burnished quill.

Some of the black chevron blazer suits are elegant. They are worn over a white vest and white shirt front, and the collar is often a round turn down shape like that worn by small boys. The cuffs may be the inside kind or those that turn up. There is nothing that gives a woman such a neat appearance as nice white cuffs. The Eton suits in black are as stylish, but do not have an air of outing.

The bathing suits of this season are prettier than ever before and more refined. The use of white serge and white silk warp hennetta is growing in favor for such costumes. These goods do not bug like flannel, and the water slides off them. Thus they are light, and they hang in better, rounder folds. One very pretty suit has Turkish knee trousers. They are full, and the upper portion of the suit is sewed fast to them. There is a short frill at the waist, scarcely a skirt. The sleeves are short, and the neck may be cut out or made with a yoke of a contrasting color. It is pretty either way.

OLIVE HARPER.

SEPARATED.

Every one called Mr. and Mrs. Spooner a loving couple; but the other day a woman came between them and they did not speak for hours.

She Caught the Train.

A young woman, faintly dressed, wearing a neat suit, rushed into the Union station the other day. Taking a hurried glance at the walls of the room, she finally discovered the timepiece, and with an audible "Oh!" ran up stairs as fast as her already weakened strength would permit. She was nearly overcome by her exertions as she reached the exit to the platform. A large box and two bundles were all the impediments she carried. She was climbing aboard a train for Springfield, minding not the drops of rain that were drenching her costume, at the same time telling the lookmen with spasmodic gasps how she feared the horrid train would leave before she arrived, adding that she had an engagement in New Britain that she must not break. On learning that she was not on the New England side of the station and had no time to go around, she tossed her luggage over the fence, and with an athletic bound sprang after it. She landed all right, and making a dash succeeded in boarding the train she sought just in time. Hats were off to the New Britain maiden.—Hartford Post.

She Chases the Birds and Beasts.

Mrs. H. B. Ludwig of Montague, Sussex county, N. J., across the Delaware river from this place, possesses a gift of magnetism which gives her wonderful control over animals, birds, reptiles and insects. The most vicious horses which are utterly unmanageable by any one else become perfectly tractable and obedient under her voice and touch. Dogs, cats and other domestic animals whether belonging to her or to others, seem to understand every word she speaks, and they do the most astonishing things at her order. Say, suspicious and unapproachable as the wild fox is, he will not only fly at the approach of Mrs. Ludwig, but will come to her at a word of command. Wild birds follow her when she walks about her farm and frequently will not be driven away by her. One particular robin is so infatuated with her that it hovers about the house continually, although Mrs. Ludwig has taken it far away several times and tried to frighten it into leaving her.

Mrs. Ludwig insists that birds and beasts have a language, and that she understands it instinctively.—Milford (Pa.) Letter.

Adopted Woman Suffrage.

The Kansas Populists have adopted a woman suffrage plank. At Topeka, June 18, in the Populist state convention, the minority report endorsing the pending woman suffrage amendment was adopted. The vote stood 337 to 209. The officeholding element of the party was against the amendment, and did everything possible to defeat it. Chairman Presidential was astonished at the result of the vote. The substitute was carried amid the wildest excitement. When the chairman announced that the suffrage plank had been incorporated in the platform, the women on the stage embraced each other and waved their handkerchiefs, while the convention went wild. The enthusiasm was greatly increased when Susan B. Anthony and the Rev. Anna Shaw stepped to the speaker's stand and pinned Populist badges on their breasts.—Boston Woman's Journal.

Mrs. Irvine Chosen.

Mrs. Julia Josephine Irvine, M. A., has been chosen by the trustees of Wellesley college to serve as its acting president during next year. Mrs. Irvine graduated from Cornell university in 1875 and was for some years a teacher in New York city. She was afterward a student at Leipzig university and at Bologna and Athens from 1887 to 1890. In 1890 she was appointed professor of Greek at Wellesley and has held this position until the present time. Mrs. Irvine has been one of the two professors who have discharged the duties of an executive since the death of President Shaler in January, 1894. She is a daughter of the late Dr. Mary F. Thomas of Richmond, who was for many years president of the Indiana Woman Suffrage association, a woman honored and beloved by suffragists.

New Jersey Women Cannot Vote.

Chief Justice Besley gave an opinion on June 11 in which he declares it the sense of the supreme court of New Jersey that women cannot vote in the state. The decision is a general one, and while it applies to all attempts of women exercising rights of franchise under statutory provisions it is a decision rendered in connection with the election of road commissioner in Bergen county. The contest was made because at the general town meeting the chairman of the assembly said that under the statute all persons of full age, whether men or women, who reside and own property in the township and district, should be permitted to vote, and because women did vote, and by these votes of the fair sex Commissioner Blake was placed in power.—Trenton Dispatch.

Gaudy Colors In London.

The long spell of bleak weather has given place to a balmy atmosphere, and Hyde park is crowded with the fashionable throng. Dresses are gay and bright, almost garish. The new alliance is rose color and mulberry. Leaders of fashion say that Mr. Sargent is responsible for the present gaudy taste in colors. He painted Mrs. Bismarck's last year in pink, magenta, and it became not only fashionable, but dominant. The effect still continues, for plenty of colors that scream are now seen in Hyde park daily.—London Globe.

Massachusetts Women.

At the convention of the State Federation of Women's Clubs of Massachusetts in annual session at Marlboro recently the reports showed 718 women's organizations in the commonwealth, with a total membership of 50,000. If these 50,000 intelligent, high minded women had votes, think what a power they would be! They could purify the politics of the state.—Woman.

Enveloped.

"Now, when I give de command 'Cover,' you is to see dat you is tereckly behind me. Now, 'cover.'"

Misjudged.

The bronzed and weather beaten face of the president of the wheel club was darkened by a shade of disappointment as he laid his hand on the shoulder of the young member.

"Mr. Pneumo," he said kindly, "you have been so regular in attendance at our meetings and so enthusiastic in all matters pertaining to the welfare of the club that I dislike to speak to you on a subject that has pained me greatly. But I feel that I must ask of you why it is that you so often appear among us not wearing the regulation bicycle trousers we have adopted and which, it should not be necessary to tell you, are required to be worn on all important occasions."

For a moment a deep blush spread over the face of the unfortunate young man thus addressed, and then, drawing his companion to his side, he hastily muttered a few words in his ear. Then it was that the elder man turned and grasped him by the hand and said in tones of the deepest sympathy: "Will you forgive me? I did not know that you had a sister."—Truth.
